May 26th, 2020 - women fire and dangerous things is emphatically not a rewarding read but some of the ideas contained in it are worth being made aware of the idea of motivated connections as distinguished from generative predictable connections on the one hand and arbitrary connections on the other seems to offer a valuable perspective on the categories demarcated by human language' 'women fire and dangerous things

May 19th, 2020 - lakoff s women fire and dangerous things is a treasure trove of linguistic examples and a carefully developed model of cognition argued on the basis of semantics his experientialism places the human act of cognition in the center his brilliantly presented result is that cognition is vitally dependent on metaphor which he defines as a mapping of conceptual structures from one domain onto'
